PREFACE

Thank you to the member libraries for their cooperation in preparing of the 2020 Statistics. The statistics published in this document are compiled from the information provided in New York State Annual Reports completed by the member libraries in March. All of the data in this publication is available to the public, as the New York State Annual Reports are public documents. We hope the data and format are useful resources for preparing budgets, educating community members and elected officials about their local libraries and the great investment they are for the communities libraries serve.

In 2020, the world was forced to face the COVID-19 pandemic and member libraries were ordered to close their facilities by an Executive Order from NYS Governor. Library staff quickly and efficiently, with the assistance of RCLS, began to serve their communities remotely by offering online programs and streamlining access to library cards, increasing the eContent usage. These events and actions taken by member libraries to serve their communities impacted the 2020 statistics.

The circulation of materials decreased by 31.64% as compared to 2019 (pg. 22). However, the eContent circulation continued its explosive growth with a 41.62% surge over 2019. The five-year increase in eContent circulation of 195% (pg. 23) demonstrates that our community members are using their local libraries remotely more each year. Every dollar invested in the eContent library collection remains the best return on investment a library can make for its community.

As one would expect, the number of library visits declined by 2,314,060 or 52.16% (page 25). The number of program sessions shrank by 43% and program attendance fell by 35%.

Member library buildings were closed to the public; thus, the number of visitors declined by 52.16% (pg. 25). The importance community member placed on their libraries did not suffer, as demonstrated by the 4.20% financial sustainable growth member libraries had this year (pg. 27).

NOTE: The method used to calculate averages and mediums is based only on the data from libraries which report for these items. There are several categories in which not all libraries report data; for example (2.8) Uncataloged Books or (8.7) Branch Hours. For item (2.8) Uncataloged Books, only 17 libraries circulate uncataloged books and for item (8.7) Branch Hours, just four libraries have one or more branches. The averages and mediums for these two items are based on the number of libraries reporting, not all libraries.
