ABOUT US

The Ramapo Catskill Library System (RCLS) was chartered in 1959 as a non-profit, cooperative public library system. Our mission is to provide high quality, cost-effective consolidated and cooperative services to assist the 47 member libraries eco-system in meeting the demands of their communities. Our objective is to raise awareness about library services and work continuously to eliminate barriers to library access. The primary source of income for RCLS originates from state aid based upon a formula determined by New York State Education Law. The remaining funding comes from grants to fund special projects and member libraries. The total RCLS operating budget in 2021 was $4,314,400.00

COORDINATED SERVICES

RCLS offers a set of cost effective, consolidated, and coordinated services designed to enhance local achievement and maximize the value of community funds. Furthermore, RCLS offers centralized automation services along with extensive training to help support member libraries. We believe these services will enhance community members overall experience while providing the member library collective strength.

DELIVERY SERVICE

RCLS operates a delivery distribution service which carries library resources between member libraries. This service facilitates interlibrary loans between RCLS libraries and the libraries within the Mid-Hudson Library System. The delivery service allows library users to borrow and return materials to any member library within the service area and have it delivered to the appropriate library. In 2020 RCLS delivered just over 3.2 million items.

DIGITAL RESOURCES

In partnership with the RCLS Central Library (Newburgh Free Library) members are afforded access to a vast electronic database and digital downloads of eBooks, audiobooks, videos, and music. At the end of 2020, the circulation was 683,916. RCLS member libraries have access to databases and digital resources to help with every-day and extracurricular needs, such as Rosetta Stone language learning, Consumer Reports, newspaper archives, and learning tools to support classroom learning for students.

CORE STANDARDS

RCLS is deeply dedicated and responsible for ensuring that all member libraries throughout Orange, Rockland, Sullivan, and southern Ulster Counties have access to the following: TECHNOLOGY to enhance and maintain existing automation services while assisting to implement emerging technologies to improve service and cooperation. TRAINING to provide staff, directors, and trustees with the skills, tools, and resources to better support their communities. ADVOCACY to educate about the value and importance of library services and programs. RESOURCES that provide a range of services and products to enhance the community member's overall experience.
